BOY KILLED.

Bannle Wells Struck by a C. & O. Train.

Accident Happened at Auxler, and the Boy Died While Enroute to Riverview Hospital.

A sad accident occurred near Auxler, a station on the C. and O. south of Paintsville, last Saturday which resulted in the death of a bright young lad named Bannle Wells, aged about 13 years and son of "Bud" Wells, of that place. The boy, who was employed as water boy at the tipples near the place of the accident, was trying to jump on some cars which were being shifted at that point, when the usual thing occurred. His foot slipped and he fell under the wheels of the moving train. As soon as possible he was picked up and placed on No. 39 in charge of a physician, with the intention of taking him to a hospital. At or very near Louisa the unfortunate lad breathed his last and the mangled body was sent back to Auxler on No. 33, the evening train from Ashland.

The accompanying physician was Dr. Will Hatcher, of Auxler. Jeff Wells, a brother of the lad, was also along.

Sick and Penniless.

A sick man, two women and seven children formed a pitiful crowd of ten at the C. and O. depot last Friday morning. They had started by wagon from Wolfe county to go to Huntington, and while stopping to rest and eat on Johnson creek, Magoffin county, some miscreant broke open a trunk in their wagon and stole all the money the man had. When they arrived here Thursday evening they were hungry, poorly clothed and penniless. The children looked to be about the same age, none big enough to do much more than walk, most of them not old enough to do that. Marshal Vinson took them in charge and saw that they were fed and comfortably housed. Several citizens chipped in to relieve their necessities. The destitute strangers were sent to their destination, where, so the man claimed, they had relatives who would care for them.

Arm and Leg Broken.

Harry Burke, formerly of this neighborhood, an employee of the Bell Telephone Co., was the victim of a serious accident last Monday. The particulars are meager, but on that day he either fell from a telephone pole or a falling pole struck him, the result being a broken leg and a broken arm. Burke is a son of "Link" Burke, of Walbridge, who immediately after hearing of the accident, left for Buchanan, W. Va., the place where the accident occurred. Harry Burke is an excellent young man who has been a valued employee of the telephone company about two years. His friends will be sorry to learn of his misfortune.

Mr. Thomas Mayo Seriously Ill.

Thomas Mayo, the venerable father of Mr. J. C. Mayo, of Paintsville, is critically ill at his home in that place. Several physicians are in constant attendance. It is said that a serious operation for his relief is imperative. Dr. Scott, of Bluefield, W. Va., went to Paintsville for consultation concerning Mr. Mayo's condition.

LATER:—An operation was performed by Drs. Scott, Morton and Williams and Mr. Mayo's condition is reported to be very encouraging. The operation was successful and the patient has rallied nicely. The trouble was cystic stricture.

Former Boyd County Man Shot.

Wayne Ferguson, a former Catlettsburg man, was perhaps fatally shot at a dance Saturday night down near New Boston, O. He engaged in a quarrel which started in the house in which the dance was given and was shot by a man named Edward Davis. Before receiving what is believed to be a mortal wound, Ferguson shot Davis through the arm, but the wound is not serious.

Elisha Ferguson, father of Wayne, the wounded man, was shot and killed in a very similar manner four years ago in Lawrence county. An old feud between him and James Marcum led the latter to use a rifle with instantly fatal result. The older Ferguson was passing the Marcum home one day, when Marcum came out to the fence, rested a long rifle across the top of the fence and shot Ferguson in cold blood.

The James Marcum referred to in the above was "Pud" Marcum. He lay in wait for Ferguson, knowing that he would pass along the public road near where Marcum was hid. The case hung fire a long time, but Marcum was finally lured near this town about 25 years ago. He confessed his guilt only a short time before he was executed.

CALEB POWERS

May Not Be Permitted to Take a Seat in Congress.

That the movement to prevent Caleb Powers, thrice convicted and twice pardoned for alleged complicity in the assassination of Gov. William Goebel, taking his seat in the next Congress, to which he was elected by the Republicans of the Eleventh Kentucky district last Tuesday week by a greatly decreased majority, exclusively printed in the Louisville Times, has the strong backing of many prominent Republicans, even in the Eleventh district, who repudiate Powers, as evidenced by the leading editorial in this week's issue of the Mountain Echo, published at London, Laurel county, and the foremost and most influential Republican paper in the district. Congressman Don C. Edwards, who now represents the Eleventh district in Congress, is said to be the largest stockholder in the paper and its manager, L. H. Hargue, is postmaster at London and one of the most prominent Republicans in the Eleventh district.

Under the caption of "Our Skirts Clear," the Mountain Echo discusses the four trials of Caleb Powers on the charge of complicity in the assassination of Gov. Goebel and declares its belief in his guilt of the crime, which it denounces as "the foulest, most damnable, most heinous, most diabolical crime that ever darkened Kentucky's history." The paper also makes the amazing admission that while it said Powers was greatly maligned and should be freed, at the same time it believed he was guilty, the only excuse for such a stand being party expediency. "That it was fighting for the party and not for the criminal." Concluding, the Echo expresses the hope that Congress will not seat Caleb Powers on the ground that "the good of the district, the good of the State, the good of the nation and the good of the splendid citizens who call the mountainous their home," demand that he be refused a seat in the body.

Pardons Pistol Carrier.

Gov. Willson remitted the jail sentence of ten days imposed in Pike county, on M. C. Magruder, sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and spend ten days in jail, for carrying concealed a deadly weapon. The Governor says he never grants pardons of this kind unless there is some actual danger of the man who carries the pistol losing his life. It was shown in this case, the Governor says, that Magruder was in danger as he was working up cases against several men charged with felony.

Breathitt's Election Murder.

Jackson, Ky., Nov. 9.—County Jailor Wesley Turner was shot and instantly killed last night by Jake Noble, better known as "Bad Jake." Turner had just returned from Canoe Fork, his home precinct, where he had been working in the election and was walking up the street in company with Pierce Crawford, Jr., and Marion Hall, when they met Noble. Noble stopped and asked to look at Crawford's pistol. Crawford yielding, handed the pistol to Noble, who began firing instantly at Jailor Turner, who stood only a few feet away. Three shots took effect, and Turner died instantly.

Noble fled down the street and was fired at several times by Hall, who also had a pistol. A posse of about one hundred men at once left in pursuit of Noble, but he has not yet been located. A second posse left this morning in search of the slayer. Five hundred dollars reward has been offered for his arrest and it is expected that the Governor will increase this amount.

The trouble between the area originated while Noble was confined in jail under Turner, who had only served as Jailor one year, and was one of the most popular officials in the county.

All the city is aroused over the affray and a lynching is almost sure if an arrest is made, although much trouble is expected as Noble is Breathitt county's most desperate character and has heretofore killed several men. The officers expect a strong resistance in making an arrest when he is located.

As usual on the night of the elections the town rang with pistol shots for several hours, beginning at dark and lasting until shortly before the killing. The officers were powerless.

New Rabbit Law.

Much misapprehension as to the game law passed by the last Legislature has arisen in this county and probably in many other counties, especially as to setting traps and snares for rabbits and other game. The act that passed was very brief and is as follows:

"That it shall be unlawful for anyone to set a steel trap, deadfall or snare or to loose or hunt with a ferret upon the premises or property to another, without first securing the written consent of the owner of the premises or property, and anyone thus offending shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $25.

"Having in possession game caught, as set out in Section 1, shall be prima facie evidence of guilt as herein provided."

MRS. T. D. MARCUM DEAD.

Passed Away Suddenly Thursday at Catlettsburg.

All who knew Mrs. T. D. Marcum, of Catlettsburg, will be greatly grieved when they learn that she is dead. Her death occurred at her home in that city Thursday morning. She had been sick several weeks with dysentery and at times during this period her condition seemed critical, but she grew better and had been able to move about her room. She took a change for the worse, however, and in spite of all that could be done for her death occurred as above stated.

Mrs. Marcum leaves a husband, three children, J. Fletcher Marcum, Mrs. A. Mims and Miss Maud Marcum, two sisters, Mrs. R. M. Brous and Mrs. Will Frazier, and three brothers Sam and Dr. A. W. Bromley, of this place, and John B. Bromley, of Catlettsburg. No arrangements as to time and place of burial have been made.

Mrs. Marcum was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bromley, of Fort Gay, W. Va., and was born 65 years ago. She was a most excellent woman, of unswerving and high Christian character. She was a devoted member of the Baptist church, and in all the relations of life, as daughter, sister, mother and wife "Polly" Marcum occupied an elevated place.

UNDER ARREST.

Ben Blankenship Captured at El Paso, Texas.

Conflicting Stories as to How He Was Identified, but he Probably Talked Too Much.

On Friday last news reached this place that Ben Blankenship, wanted here for the murder of Oscar Waller on March 31st, and for whose apprehension a reward of $300 had been offered, had been captured at El Paso, Texas. The News is informed that an officer is thought to be on his way to this place with Blankenship and that their arrival is expected at any time. The officers who made the arrest wired that they would start with him as soon as they were assured of the deposit of the amount of the reward. This requirement was complied with last Monday.

There can be no doubt this time that Blankenship has been caught. When he was recognized through his published picture he was traveling with some sort of a street show company, and when arrested he did not deny his identity or the fact that he had killed Waller, but he said he had killed him in self-defense. He said further that he wanted to go back to Kentucky and "have it over with."

Waller's father has been in communication with the officers at El Paso, and is convinced that they have the right man this time, although he has heretofore followed scores of false reports to a disappointing end.

The reward of $500 is to be paid by the State of Kentucky and L. O. Waller, father of the victim.

LATER:—We are told that the jailer at El Paso informed James Rice, C. and O. detective, in a telephone conversation, that Blankenship got drunk and told of the killing, but after his arrest he denied his identity and said he would not return to Kentucky without a regulation.

Deplorable Accident.

Chett. C. Magann, local representative of the Chalmers Motor Car Co., was left Catlettsburg with a new touring car he was to deliver to Monte Gobie in Cincinnati, returned home during the latter part of the night by way of the Norfolk and Western Railway, with his nerves badly shattered as the consequence of a most deplorable accident met with when running a few miles above Portsmouth.

Mr. Magann was accompanied by Gna H. Humpton, and they were running along at a very moderate rate of speed, when a boy about twelve or fourteen years of age dropped off the blind end of a wagon, darted in front of the auto and was almost instantly killed. — Catlettsburg Tribune.

A coroner's jury thoroughly investigated the case and fully exonerated Mr. Magann and the other occupants of the automobile.

The boy stepped directly in front of the machine and no power on earth could have prevented the fatality.

Called for Another Year.

From the following taken from the Brooklyn Eagle it will be seen that the congregation which Mr. Shannon has served so long is anxious to have him remain.

The Rev. Frederick F. Shaanon, the young and able pastor of Grace M. E. Church, Seventh avenue and St. John's place, who is now serving his seventh year, has been called for the eighth year, and already the official board has requested the district superintendent, the Rev. Dr. James S. Chadwick, to ask for his appointment by Bishop Nuelson, who will preside over the session of the New York East Conference at its meeting in New Rochelle, beginning March 29, next.

New Law For Good Roads.

A law providing for good roads in the State of Kentucky will be drafted by a committee appointed by the Kentucky Good Roads Association some time ago at a meeting of this special committee to be held in Louisville November 26. The conference will be held in the office of Julius V. Beckmann, in the Urban building, and all the members of the good roads committee will make an effort to complete the bill without further delay.

About a month or so ago the committee met in Louisville and started work on the good roads law, and, after working on the bill two or three days, adjourned to meet again. At this next meeting they will take up the law where they left off at the last meeting.

When the good roads law is perfected it will be submitted to the Kentucky Good Roads Association for ratification, after which it will be ready for presentation in the Kentucky General Assembly. The good roads committee is composed of Harry Sommers, Elizabethtown, chairman; J. V. Beckmann, Louisville; Joseph Bosworth, Middleboro; George L. Pickett, Shelbyville, and Judge James P. Gregory, Louisville.

Roseola and scarlet fever are alike and very unlike. Roseola is characterized by superficial redness of the skin, due to a mild inflammation. There is often a sore throat. Here the resemblance to scarlet fever ceases. Roseola is about as dangerous as the itch. A had case of scarlet fever—and they all are likely to become bad—la as dangerous as a loaded gun, or as one thought to be unloaded. There is no time for delay when something resembling scarlet fever appears. Send for the best doctor you know and let him decide for you. When eruptive throat diseases or throat diseases which are not eruptive appear in a community see to it that your children's—and your—mouths, throats and nostrils are kept clean. Inspect the children's throats daily. Use gargles of listerine, chlorate of potash or peroxide of hydrogen, one or all three—it won't hurt. Don't rush to see the sick. They don't want to see you, and you hurt them and yourself and aid in the spread of this disease. And remember that there is no other disease, smallpox not excepted, which is so highly contagious as scarlet fever. And remember, also, that scarlet fever and "scarlatina" are one and the same thing. If you have it you are not well after you get "well." Ask your doctor why.

An End to Football.

A warrant was issued Monday at Wheeling, W. Va., charging Thomas McCoy, of the Bethany College football team, with murder in connection with the death of Capt. Rudolph Munk, of the West Virginia University team, in a game Saturday.

This has stopped the savage pastime at Bethany and should put an end to it everywhere.

NEW COAL LINE.

C. & O. Will Build Branch Line Up Shelby Creek, Pike County.

Further railroad construction to be undertaken for the development of the Consolidation Coal Co.'s recently acquired land in the eastern part of Kentucky will not be started until early next spring, according to an official, although work is already begun on the Louisville & Nashville's extension into that region.

The newly projected line is from Shelby, on the Big Sandy division of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, eight miles south of Pikeville, Ky., to Shelby Gap, 23 miles; thence to Potter Gap and a terminus beyond there in the heart of the coal fields. This route follows Shelby creek and is about 30 miles long. The construction of the new railroad will cost about $1,000,000. After the breaking up of winter location surveys will be completed and the work started. This will give an outlet to the Great Lakes, the West and Northwest, following the line of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, and a connection will be built with the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton R. R. by bridging the Ohio river at Ironton, O.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 11. Jake Noble, the slayer of Jailer Wesley Turner, at Jackson, Tuesday night, was still barricaded in the mountains of Breathitt county today, according to advices received here. Over 200 men are seeking the capture of Noble, who is only twenty-two years old, and yet has four killings as his record.

The fugitive's threat to fill the coffin of every man sent to capture him apparently deterred officials from trying to storm his retreat on Lost Creek. The Sheriff's posse report they are unable to find Noble, who sent word to Jackson he was protected by relatives and would fight until killed. It is reported today that a company of militia may be sent for to capture Noble.

The special Breathitt county grand jury, called by Judge Redwine in extra sessions to investigate the assassination of Jailer Wesley Turner, has returned an indictment charging willful murder against Jake Noble.

Johnson, Wiley Combs and John Davidson charging confederating. They are charged with going armed to voting precinct No. 2, intimidating voters and election officers.

The vacancy in the Jailer's office, caused by the murder of Turner, is to be filled by appointment by County Judge Hagins. A meeting of the citizens will be held in the courthouse today to urge Judge

Hagins to make such an appointment as will enable Turner's widow and eight small children to be cared for.

PROFITABLE APPLE GROWING.

A Virginia farmer, who began growing apples on his farm some fourteen years ago and gave close attention to the business, recently sold his 1910 crop at a profit of about $4,000.

This Virginia farmer has an apple orchard of thirty-three acres containing about 1,600 bearing trees, from eight to forty years old. He did not plant the orchard and leave it to shift for itself, as a great many farmers do. He pruned the trees and sprayed them and cultivated them according to the latest improved methods. If he had left them to chance and circumstances he would not have been able to sell 1,800 barrels of apples, as he did this year, at $2.25 a barrel, the purchaser supplying the barrels. In growing apples, as in other things, there are different ways of doing which produce different results.

There are many farmers in Virginia and elsewhere who have planted extensive orchards and are getting no appreciable returns therefrom. They simply bought the trees and set them out and expected them to "do the rest." The orchards have not fulfilled their owners' expectations, because the owners expected impossibilities. Fruit trees need attention just as other trees and other crops need it. If they are allowed to grow without training or cultivation and if they are left to the mercy of insect enemies they are not going to produce first-class fruit. If the orchard is made a pasture for horses or cattle the trees will suffer thereby. Some of them will be killed outright and all of them will be damaged and stunted in growth.

There are farmers who cannot see any profits worth considering in growing apples. Probably if they tried the Virginia farmer's plan for a few years they would arrive at a different conclusion.

The News invites the careful attention of its farmer friends to the foregoing well considered article. What is therein said of growing apples in Virginia can truthfully be written concerning the raising of apples in Kentucky. Apples are becoming the most profitable crop which the farmer can raise in this section. Reports of the extent and value of the recent apple crop in West Virginia, and of the quality of the fruit produced, is astounding. The soil in this part of Kentucky is almost identical with the soil of West Virginia, and the same intelligent, careful and well-directed labor given to the raising of apples here in Lawrence county as was bestowed upon in West Virginia would produce the same splendid results. But it must be "intelligent, careful and well-directed," continuous and untiring labor.

The News desires to cite any who may be doubting Thomas on this point to one case in this immediate locality. Over on the "Point" there is a small farm within a stone's throw of the bridge toll gate, having on it something less than 200 apple trees, mostly Rome Beauties. The farm was run down and the orchard was about run out. The land "belongs to heirs" and could not be sold, and few thought it could be made to produce anything worth while. Among the few who did think any good thing could come of Nazareth was Mr. Earl McClure. He had the courage of his convictions and rented the farm. He went to work intelligently and industriously. He went through that old apple orchard, and there was little left of the trees but their roots. He pruned and cut and scraped and played until the orchard looked like a field with a couple of hundred of naked bushes set out in it. It was known that the "Patrick place" was being worked by one of these here book farmer fellers, and many who had just as good ground and as many trees, but less sense and industry gave Mr. McClure the grand haul, and today he is the one who laughs, with 800 bushels of the finest apples picked and housed in storage, not a blemish on one of them, and the owner is calmly waiting for the apple market to meet his idea as to prices. When the apples gathered the trees Mr. McClure knew when to spray and what to use; when the codling moth threatened he knew what to do, and when scale and fungi showed he knows how to successfully wage a warfare against such foes. Hundreds of farmers in this section can successfully emulate his example if they will.

WEST VIRGINIA NEIGHBORS.

NEWS FROM COUNTIES JUST ACROSS THE RIVER IN WEST VIRGINIA.

We are informed that the oil well on Big Creek came in last Friday as a 20-barrel producer. The oil overflowed and as a consequence the creek is full of oil to the mouth. Several barrels of the oil was bailed up at Big Creek station, and much of it went out into the river. Excitement in the neighborhood is very high as a consequence, and fan values are expected to soar. Logan Democrat.

On last Sunday, while playing with some other boys across the river from this city, William Cary, the 10-year-old son of Lawrence Cary, suffered an accident which may cause him to lose one of his eyes. The boys were playing with bows and arrows, when an arrow with a steel point struck young Cary in the eye, making a very ugly wound. Mr. Cary left on the early morning train Monday for Huntington, where he will secure the best medical attention to be had in that city in the hope of saving the boy's eye. Logan Democrat.

The West Virginia Supreme court has decided that a man who buys or sells votes and gets into the penitentiary, may keep on voting himself as soon as he gets out of the pen. Of course he will continue to be on the market just as he had hitherto been. This decision was rendered in a case that came up in Kanawha county when a man wanted to register and was denied the privilege because he had been sent to the pen for fraudulent voting. One of the judges dissented from the decision of the others and will hand down his opinion later.

Announcement is made that the Norfolk and Western railway has under consideration a tunnel two and a half miles in length between Mayberry and Harlow's hollow, near Cooper's. The construction of the tunnel will greatly reduce the grade between Cooper's and the Coaldale tunnel, which is now the longest on the road, being seven-eighths of a mile in length, though it will be slightly exceeded by the Cedar Bluff tunnel now in course of construction, and which will be, when completed, 4,700 feet long.

Since Col. J. M. Fuller left the county the Republican vote has been slumping sadly. With Joney Porter to dictate matters in Stone-wall and Grant, Prof. McClure and Jim Runyons in Union and Joe Mart York in Butler, the party machinery has fallen into bad hands. The smooth Italian hand of Col. Fuller has been missing of late.

George Stevens, one of the foremen of Cole and Crane, in the construction of a tram road in Logan county, W. Va., was set upon by a number of Italian laborers under his charge and shot to death on Tuesday night. The tragedy occurred on Buffalo Creek where the timber operators are building a railroad. There were about two hundred Italians at the camp and a number of them were in a shanty with Boss Stevens when a difficulty arose resulting in Stevens being shot several times, from the effects of which he died soon afterwards.

Those who were engaged in the work fled to the mountains and are being chased by a sheriff's posse and bloodhounds and will eventually be caught when it is feared that others may be killed in a battle which may ensue.

TYPHOID FEVER.

Typhoid fever is one of the preventable diseases, and health boards and sanitary experts are diligent in giving advice as to how it can be prevented. Nevertheless the disease invariably stands close to the top in the mortality reports.

The report of the Indiana State Board of Health for the month of September showed that typhoid fever was the most prevalent disease of the month. Eighty-three counties reported an aggregate of 800 cases and 158 deaths, as against 757 cases and 132 deaths in the same month last year. Commenting on the statistics, Dr. J. N. Hurty, Secretary of the Indiana Board of Health, is quoted by the Indianapolis Star as saying:

"Until Indiana takes further steps to eliminate typhoid fever the citizens of this State cannot criticize the benighted countries of Europe on account of cholera. This record is simply fever are filth diseases, and until the people awaken to the understanding that cleanliness is a crime and that it destroys life at a faster rate than all murders, assassinations and anarchy combined, the efforts of health officers will be in vain except to point out as often as possible the alarming facts and assist in the campaign of education."

It is little wonder that health officials are moved occasionally to strong language in discussing the indifference of the public to the ravages of preventable diseases, such as typhoid fever. The conservation of health is an issue of paramount importance to humanity. It dwarfs all other issues, but the masses of the people persistently refuse to interest themselves in it in a practical way. There are localities where an outbreak of cholera creates more concern than an incipient epidemic of typhoid fever. Meanwhile, though it is a little discouraging at times, let the health officials keep up the campaign of education and continue "to point out alarming facts." Courier Journal.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed. Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Gossip From the Provinces.

Stand aside, Mr. President, and let the terror from Oyster Bay take the field in 1912 and a redeemed, regenerated and disenthralled Democracy will polish off the palpitating planet with him.

It appears that Mr. Taft is not fleeing the country, but merely jogging down to Panama. He could not have selected a better time.

Well, anyhow, Senator Dick, of Ohio, can go back to his favorite job of wearing a militia uniform.

Foraker has enough fire left over to supply a torchlight procession, but they will not need it.

Theodore Roosevelt, L. L. D., N. G., is ill of an acute and astonishing attack of aphasia.

All of Mr. Roosevelt's hearers did not vote as they yelled.

Napoleon lost 26,000 at Waterloo.

Wellington 23,000. Bwana Tumbo is still counting.

Good mornlug, Governor Harmon. How does it feel to be real Presidential timber?

All the candidates for Governor whom Colonel Roosevelt called liars were elected.

We seem to have no record of the favorite sayings of one Theodore in defeat.

The election returns received after the News was published last week only increased the extent of the Democratic victory. Complete returns show the election of the full Democratic tickets in Ohio, Indiana, New York and New Jersey. The Legislatures of these States are Democratic and will elect United States Senators. West Virginia will do the same. James A. Hughes is the only Republican elected to Congress in the entire State. Heretofore it has been a solid Republican delegation.

In this issue we reproduce an article about John C. C. Mayo that was first published in Cincinnati. It is slightly incorrect in one or two details, but we are printing at just it was published, in pursuance of our practice to keep Big Sandy people posted on what the outside world says about this region and its people.

Hon W. J. Fields' majority over Congressman Bennett in the district is reported to be 607 in Lawrence county the official count showed Bennett's majority to be 97.

Governor Willson says we have much to be thankful for. Indeed we have, and some are thankful it is no worse.

The two great leaders of the Republican party, Taft and Roosevelt, alike met defeat in their own State. Roosevelt's home town of Oyster Bay went against him; his congressional district chose a Democratic Representative to replace Congressman W. W. Cocks. Roosevelt's warm personal friend; his State repudiated the Republican candidate for Governor by 50,000 plurality. As an additional blow, the New York State Legislature is Democratic, and will elect a Democratic Senator to succeed Chauncey M. Depew.

Read the Answer in the Stars. On election day the Maysville Ledger asked:

"Is Hillbilly Fields stronger than W. J. Bryan, J. N. Kehoe, Hager, Hennessey and all the no-called Democracy combined?"

LIKE OLD FRIENDS.

The Longer You Know Them the Better You Like Them.

Doan's Kidney Pills never fail you.

Louisa people know this. Read this Louisa case. Read how Doan's stood the test for one year.

It's local testimony and can be investigated:

Mrs. Margaret Holley, of Louisa, Ky., says: "I believe that I am fully prepared to back up my statement when I say that Doan's Kidney Pills are all they are claimed to be. I can say that Doan's Kidney Pills have given me great relief from backache and other kidney disorders. My neighbors have also taken the remedy with success. I am only too pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to other kidney sufferers in Louisa."

Mrs. Holley gave the above testimonial in January, 1908, and confirmed it on June 21, 1909, saying: "Since I recommended Doan's Kidney Pills last year, I have had no serious return attack of kidney trouble. Any slight disorder, caused by my kidneys, has quickly given way to Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Does Not Stimulate

Ayer's Sarsaparilla does not stimulate. It does not make you feel better one day, then as bad as ever the next. It is not a strong drink. No reaction after you stop using it. There is not a drop of alcohol in it. You have the steady, even gain that comes from a strong tonic and alterative. We wish you would ask your doctor about this. He knows. Trust him. Do as he says. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

What are Ayer's Pills? Liver Pills. How long have they been sold? Nearly sixty years. Do doctors recommend them? Ask your own doctor and find out.

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF A REMARKABLE MAN

Rise of John C. C. Mayo, the Man Who Developed Resources of Eastern Kentucky.

Paintsville, Ky.—Does the world owe more to its dreamers than its doers? The men and women who have seen visions have ever blazed the path from chaos to law and order. With the power of a loyal faith the doers have followed the path and wrought out the mighty feats of progress. In our political history the precepts of the one and the deeds of the other are duly recorded within the halls of fame. But in our industrial history the laurels have been few for the strong spirits who have wrestled from nature the comforts that we enjoy.

This is a story of industrial conquest

ed. From this point of the story Mr Mayo ceases to be a dreamer and he comes the doer. With rare acumen and untiring energy he organized companies, pierced the mountains with his shafts and brought forth the wealth of coal that his dreams had pictured there. In four years he had risen from an obscure school teacher with neither money nor credit to a multimillionaire and one of the nation's greatest captains of industry.

The acquisition of a large fortune by a small man is a misfortune to all concerned, but happily, Mr. Mayo was too big to be spoiled by success. He $250,000 Residence, One of the Handsomest Places of Eastern Kentucky.

In the rugged hills of Eastern Kentucky that reads like a romance and in which the hero has risen from poverty to wealth and power in a space of time which may be spanned by the memory of a child. It is a story of a man who was both a dreamer and a doer, unfrightened by the vastness of his vision and undaunted by the difficulties of his task.

John C. C. Mayo was born in Pike County, Kentucky, forty-five years ago. He was reared in Johnson county, near Paintsville. He went through the common schools and later attended Kentucky Wesleyan college at Millersburg. His intention then was to make teaching his life work. It was in the early days of his manhood that he began to study the formation of the mountains of his own region. In the famous legend "Acres of Diamonds" is the story of a man who sold his still moves among his old friends and neighbors with the same spirit of democracy that marked his earlier life. As they love to put it, "He is the same John Mayo." His own community holds first place in his heart. The visitor to Paintsville is shown an up-to-date town with paved streets and many other marks of Mr. Mayo's public spirit. His handsome residence, costing $250,000, is nearing completion. Perhaps the most significant monuments to his generosity are the Sandy Valley Seminary and M. E. Church, South, which cost $60,000. Much might be written of Mr. Mayo's activities along educational and religious lines with which no pressure of duty has ever been allowed to interfere, but the purpose of this sketch is to outline the picturesque feature of a remarkable career.

The glory of one's accomplishment is ever the measure of its usefulness to human kind. The men and women whose names are carved in the marble of undying memory are those who served their fellowmen. Viewed in the light of this philosophy has not a career such as Mr. Mayo's deserved to be called great? Out of barren hills the voice of faith called forth the resources that were intended by the Creator for the comfort of man. Is it not a more glorious conquest to create wealth for the use of mankind than to wage war for his destruction? Eastern Kentucky has been immeasurably blessed by this conquest of peace and among those true-hearted people of the hills there is none to refuse where the honor is due.

JOHN C. C. MAYO,

farm and traveled the world over in search of wealth and discovered, when he returned home disappointed, that rich diamond fields had been found on the farm that he had left. Not so with Mr. Mayo. He found food for his day dreams at home. We have said that he was a dreamer, but he was not an idle dreamer. He delved into the strata of rock that formed the hills and satisfied himself in an intelligent way that coal lay vast quantities were hidden beneath their rugged sides. To be sure of this, however, required years of patience and the constant exhaustion of his small savings from teaching. Few sympathized with his ideas, and while always regarded with the highest respect personally, he was pretty generally thought to be visionary and had to carry on his investigations single handed. It is in the light of these years of struggle that his victories shine with their greatest lustre. It is said that Mr. Mayo was frequently refused the most trifling credit, not that his honesty was questioned, but that his seemingly wild fancies had divorced the confidence of many of his acquaintances from him.

The penalty of the dreamer is ever the lack of the confidence of his fellowmen. But once sure of the reality of his vision Mr. Mayo obtained his options and started forth for his financial aid with the enthusiasm of a faith so strong that it could not but beget faith in others, and among the capitalists of the east a few short years ago he found the assistance he needed.

NOTES OF THE FARM.

COLUMN OF INTERESTING NEWS THAT WILL BENEFIT FARMERS.

Poultry Points.

The fairs this season have developed many new breeders who give promise of considerable prominence.

Among the chicken classes, Rhode Island Reds have taken the lead with new exhibitors. They mature early and are persistent layers.

White Rocks are coming to the front because of their white plumage, great laying propensity, early maturity and fine appearance on the table.

Barred Rocks are holding their own as the farmers' general utility fowl. As an all purpose fowl nothing wears so well as this breed.

White Orpingtons are considered by all who know them as the greatest egg producers on the market as well as excellent table fowls.

The shiny black plumage of the Langshans has many admirers and their friends know them as great winter layers and they fill a dish on the table equal to a turkey.

Leghorns are always to the front as veritable egg machines. Keep their combs and gills from freezing and they will fill the eggbasket.

Many fine coops of the Wyandotte families have been shown to great advantage and their friends are many.

Few exhibits have made such a fine appearance as the Brahmas and Cochins in their size and rich colorings. The fancy little Bantys are always in evidence and keep things lively.

Gumption on the Farm.

Feed the birds. You'll need 'em next hug time.

Don't let the apples or potatoes freeze. Sort out the rotten ones.

Don't speculate. Calculate, regulate, hesitate, migrate if you think you must, but never speculate.

Is the harness tied up with strings anywhere? Take them off and do the best job of repairing you ever did.

Get out some stuff for whiffletrees. Keep a little on hand all the time, for you may need them before you know it.

Have a bottle of rubber cement on hand and some good glue. Fix things, and do it while the other work is not pressing.

Time is saved by doing now much of the work usually done in the busy spring, such as hauling stones, clearing away trees and brush, fixing the grape arbor, etc.

Leave the job of climbing the windmill to some one who is level-headed and strong in limb. Many a serious accident has happened from not living up to this rule.

Be thankful every day; don't pile your gratitude all on to one day. The man who is thankful only when the Governor says he must, never is very thankful any day.

With the present prices of beef, which all authorities agree can not be lowered, the production of fat cattle on farms where the work has long been forgotten will be found profitable.

Are all the tools, from screw-driver to threshing machine, snugly housed for the winter? They should be, but if not it is not too late to bring them in yet. Better do it now.

You Can Work Near a Window

you do not have to work close to the stove, which is usually far from the window. You can work where you wish, and be warm. You can work on dull winter days in the full light near the window, without being chilled to the bone.

The Perfection Oil Heater quickly gives heat, and with one filling of the font burns steadily for nine hours, without smoke or smell. An indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font. The filler-cap, put in like a cork in a bottle, is attached by a chain. This heater has a cool handle and a damper top.

The Perfection Oil Heater has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back, so the wick can be quickly cleaned. The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged and can be unscrewed in an instant for reworking. The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in Japan or nickel, is strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

THE DARK GETHSEMANE HOUR

Matthew 26:36-40—November 20

The Son of Man is betrayed into the hands of sinners.—V. 14

AFTER the Master and his disciples, as Jews, had celebrated the Passover Supper and after he had subsequently instituted the Memorial of his death with the bread and the cup, and after Judas had gone out to betray him, Jesus and the remaining eleven left the upper room in Jerusalem, crossed the city to the gate and thence crossed the Valley Kedron and ascended the sloping side of Mt. Olivet toward the Garden of Gethsemane. The word Gethsemane signifies oil-press. Tradition has it that this Garden belonged to the family of which the Apostles John and James were members, and that for this reason the Lord and his disciples were privileged to feel themselves at home there. St. Mark, the writer of one of the Gospels, but not one of the Apostles, is credited with having been a member of the same family. One of the accounts of the arrest of the Master tells that amongst those who followed after him was a young man wrapped with a sheet and who fled naked when some members of the band attempted to lay hold of him. That young man, tradition says, years afterwards was known as St. Mark.

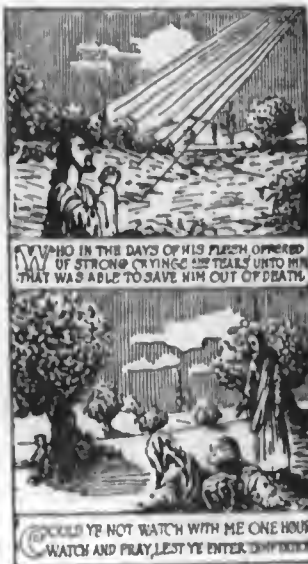

The Journey to Gethsemane

This was the most memorable night of the Master's experience. He knew perfectly the meaning of every feature of the Passover. He knew that he was the Lamb of God, antitypically, whose death was to be accomplished on the following day by crucifixion. Yet his thoughts were for his dear disciples. He must give them final words of encouragement and instruction. And so he did. Three chapters of St. John's Gospel record the incidents of the intervening time between the leaving of the upper room and the arriving at Gethsemane, the place of the oil press. "And Judas also, who betrayed him, knew the place, for Jesus oftentimes resorted thither with his disciples" (John viii, 2). In St. John xiv the Master told his disciples about the place he would go to prepare for them, but that he would send the Spirit of Truth to be their Comforter and it would show them things to come. In the fifteenth chapter he gave them the parable of the Vine and the Branches and assured them that no longer should they be servants, but friends. "For all things that I have heard of my Father I have made known unto you." In the sixteenth chapter he explained to them that persecutions must be expected, if they would share his sufferings and be prepared to share his glory.

A little while and they would not see him; then again a little while and they would see him. The entire period of his absence, from the Olivet standpoint, as compared to eternity, would be but a little while. Then, by virtue of the resurrection "change," they would see him, because made like him. "In the world ye shall have tribulation; but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world." "These things I have given unto you that ye may have peace." In the 17th chapter is recorded his wonderful

His disciples and followers loved him dearly. Still he was alone, because he alone had been begotten of the holy Spirit. His followers could not feel so blessed nor be spirit-begotten until after his sacrifice had been finished nor until he would appear in the presence of God for them to apply his merit imputedly to them, to permit them to join with him sacrificially in the sufferings of this present time, that they might share with him also in the glories to follow.

St. Peter, referring to the foregoing experience of our Lord, declares that he offered up strong crying and tears unto him that was able to save him from death and was heard in respect to that which he feared. Why did he fear? Do not all humanity face death, and some of them with great courage and some with bravado? Ah, there is a vast difference between the Master's standpoint and ours as respects death. We were born dying. We never knew perfect life. We have always known that there is no escape from death. It was different with him. His experiences on the spirit plane before coming into the world were all in association with life, perfection of life. "In him was life"—uncontaminated, because he was holy, harmless, undefiled and separate from sinners; his life came not from Adam.

He knew that in his perfection he had a right to life. If he would live in perfect accordance with the Divine requirements. But he knew also that by special Covenant with God, "a Covenant by sacrifice," he had agreed to the surrender of all his earthly rights and to allow his life to be taken from him. The Father had promised him a great reward of glory, honor and immortality through resurrection from the dead, but this was dependent upon his absolute obedience in every particular—in word, in thought, in deed. The question was, Had he been absolutely loyal to God in every particular? If not death would mean to him an eternal extinction of being, not only the loss of heavenly glory promised as a reward, but the loss of everything.

Can we wonder that he did not understand? The hour seemed so dark, and he said, "My soul is exceeding sorrowful." He knew that he was to die. He knew that death was necessary. But here, now, looming up before him on the morrow was a shameful execution as a blasphemer, as a criminal, as a violator of Divine law. Could it be possible that in anything, even slightly, he had taken to himself the honor due to the Father? Could it be possible that in any degree he had held back, even in his mind, from full obedience to the Father's will? Did this crucifixion as a criminal possibly mean the loss of Divine favor? Was it necessary that he should die thus? Might not this cup of ignominy pass? So he prayed in a great agony. And although the older Greek manuscripts do not contain the statement that he sweated great drops of blood, medical science tells us that such an experience would not have been at all impossible in a nervous, strained, mental agony. But we note the beautiful simplicity of the statement with which his prayer concluded—"Nevertheless, my Father, not my will, but thy will, be done."

How childlike and beautiful the faith and trust, even amidst strenuous agitation! St. Paul says that he feared like him. "In the thing which he feared, how? God's answer came by angelic bands. An angel appeared and ministered to him—ministered to his necessity. "Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister to those who shall be heirs of salvation?" (Hebrews i, 14). We are not informed in what words this heavenly ministry was expressed to the Master in his lowliness and sorrow, but we do know that it must have been with full assurance of the Heavenly Father's favor and sympathy and love. He was heard in respect to the things which he feared. He received the assurance that he was well-pleasing to the Father; that he had been faithful to his Covenant, and that he would have the resurrection promised.

"Behold the Lamb of God"

From that moment onward the Master was the calmest of all who had any association with the great events of that night and the following day. Officers, servants, Sanhedrin, priests, Herod and his men of war, Pilate and his soldiers, and the shouting multitude—all were excited, all were distressed. Jesus only was calm. This was because he had the Father's assurance that all was well between them. As this blessed assurance gave the Master courage, so his followers since have found that, "if God be for us, who can be against us?" If we have the peace of God ruling in our hearts, it is beyond all human comprehension.

Judas the Ungrateful Apostate

The world is full of sadly disappointing characters. In many things we all fail. Selfishness, meanness, perversity, pride, etc., mark the human family most woefully. But what can anyone find anything more reprehensible than the ingrate who would betray his best friend?

The world is of one opinion respecting such characters as that of Judas. And although he is a noted example he is by no means an exception; there are many. Some of them live today. But whoever can see the meanness of such a disposition with a reasonably good focus will surely be saved from manifesting such a character, however mean might be his disposition. The man who could sell his Master for thirty pieces of silver is justly in contempt with all humanity. Nor was it merely the thirty pieces that influenced the ingrate. Rather it was pride. He had thought to be associated with the Master in an earthly throne. He had set his faith upon this expectation. Now that same Master explained more fully that the throne was not yet in sight; that it belongs to an age to follow this, and was to be given only to those who should prove themselves loyal and faithful unto death. In the mind of Judas the matter took not the wisest and best way. Holding the Great Teacher in contempt, the deceived one probably intended that the delivery should be merely a temporary one—a lesson to the Master not to talk that way, not to carry matters too far—an incentive to him, compelling him to exert his power for the resistance of those who sought his life and thus, in exalting himself, make good to his disciples the share in the Kingdom which he had promised or, failing of this, to wreck the entire project. Alas, the love of money, the love of power puff up and make delicious some who become intoxicated with ambition. How necessary that all the Lord's followers remember the message, "His that humbleth himself shall be exalted and he that exalteth himself shall be abased." Humble yourselves, therefore, under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time" (1 Peter v, 6).

Flowers for the Living.

Once while assisting in the last sad rites that so often fall on us to perform here on earth, for some dear and precious loved one stricken by the hand of death we were particularly impressed as we beheld the casket containing the still, silent form so profusely covered with flowers that it seemed "I would be bliss to there repose." But we had known the pathway that silent form had trod. Few flowers bloomed beside it, but little sunlight ever crossed it. Tired and weary, few proffered help, sad and discouraged few spoke words of cheer. Thorns by the way, there seemed none to remove them; often cast down there seemed none near to lift up. A heart starving for a loving word, a soul bewildered for lack of a tender hand to guide. But all is over now; the pangs the regrets, the cares, the sorrows can hamper that form no longer, neither can any tender, loving administration you may now bestow take one pang, one regret, pluck one thorn or emit one ray of sunshine on the life already over, or add one jot to the bliss of the soul in its new estate. That day most beautiful flowers were proffered by those whose lips never uttered one word of cheer to the departed, nor hands never held out to help, to remove the thorn, to smooth way and make at least one pleasant little oasis on life's desert.

Have we friends? We trust we have. Then we pray them save not all the flowers for my burial, but sprinkle a few along my pathway now—just a few. We can appreciate them just now. How refreshing—how they fill my poor heart with joy just to know someone thinks of us—cares for us, is even solicitous for our welfare. Oh, how it brightens life, lightens its burdens; the consolation even softens a dying pillow, might we not say adds bliss to the departed spirit. Yes, strew our coffin with flowers, but oh, grant us a few by the way—just a few bestowed against the day of our burial.

Number One.

"I always take care of 'Number One,'" said one of a troop of boys at the end of a bridge, some wanting to go one way and some another.

"That's you, out and out," cried one of his companions. "You don't think or care about any one but yourself, you ought to be called Number One."

"If I did not take care of 'Number One, who would, I should like to know?" cried he!

True, Number One was right. He ought to take care of himself—good

Does Not Strain the Eyes

Don't use a small, concentrated light over one shoulder. It puts an unequal strain on your eyes. Use a diffused, soft, mellow light that cannot flicker, that equalizes the work of the eyes, such as the Rayo Lamp gives, and avoid eye strain.

The Rayo is designed to give the best light, and it does.

It has a strong, durable shade-holder that is held firm and true. A new burner gives added strength. Made of solid brass and finished in nickel. Easy to keep polished. The Rayo is low priced, but no other lamp gives a better light at any price.
